Immortale® for Women

As women age, hormonal chemistry can tend to become unbalanced. A healthy reproductive system depends on proper hormonal balance and adequate lean muscle mass. Many different herbs and nutrients can play an important role in supporting proper hormone balance in the female body.

Benefits to the Female Body

*Promotes a Healthy Reproductive System

Certain natural herbs and plant extracts stand out in terms of their ability to support a healthy functioning female reproductive system. These herbs include Tribulus Terrestris and Green Oats.*

Tribulus Terrestris

Tribulus Terrestris is a plant native to Eastern Europe that has a tonic effect on sexual organs and hormones by assisting the body in healthy hormone production. This unique plant promotes healthy uterine function and supports the body's ability to regulate progesterone levels.*

Green Oats

Green oats or Avena Sativa are well known for their many benefits to the human body. Many cultures have used green oats to enhance their vitality and promote feelings of well-being.*

*Support Healthy Hormone Levels

Hormone balance is the number one factor associated with a healthily functioning reproductive system. Ingredients such as Damiana leaf, Dong Quai and Wild Yam root have shown the ability to naturally support hormone levels in women.*

Wild Yam

Wild yam contains a chemical composition that has shown effective results in promoting proper hormone function.*

Damiana Leaf

Damiana leaf offers a multitude of benefits to the female reproductive system. In women, Damiana leaf supports healthy hormone levels. A side benefit of the amazing herb is its ability to increase the overall energy level in the women who consume it. Damiana leaf also aids in the body's digestive processes and helps with overall detoxification.*

Dong Quai

Dong Quai has developed a reputation for being the "female ginseng". This potent nutrient is beneficial in promoting healthy menses, providing nutritional support to blood flow, and assisting the body's ability to cope during menopause.*

Enhances Lean Muscle Mass*

As women age the hormonal ratio in their body changes causing a loss in lean muscle mass. Certain nutraceuticals can be used to help promote healthy hormone levels in the female body and in turn maintain lean muscle mass. These nutraceuticals include Graminaceae Flower Pollen Extract and Cayenne Pepper fruit.*

Graminaceae Flower Pollen

Graminaceae Flower Pollen Extract offers a wide array of benefits to the human body. It has been used to assist with issues ranging from urinary tract health to athletic performance. In terms of lean muscle mass production, Graminaceae flower pollen has the ability to boost one's stamina and energy, which in turn leads to the ability to increase the duration and difficulty of one's workout.*

Cayenne Pepper Fruit

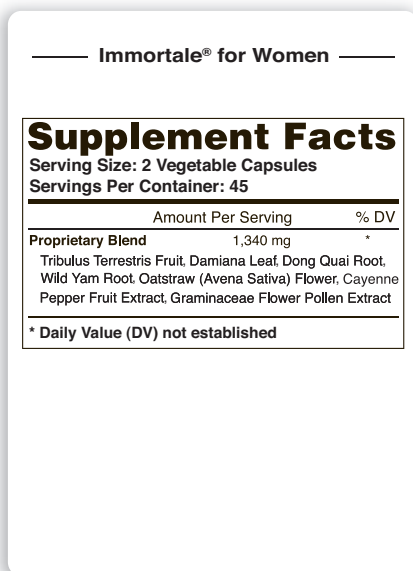

Cayenne acts as a catalyst to increase nutritional absorption of all nutrients. Cayenne also increases your body's circulation and in turn metabolism.*
